Conferences with other family physicians and specialists are excluded.

2. Can shared care fee code 520 be billed when a family physician conferences with a primary healthcare provider working within a practice, either employed by the physician or employed by the health authority (or other organization) and embedded within the practice?

No, conversations about a patient, between the family physician and a primary healthcare provider that is located in the family physician's office are part of the normal medical office workflow and would not be eligible for fee code 520.

3. If a hospital or other care facility has a multidisciplinary team meeting to discuss the needs of a patient and the care plan for the patient necessitates the patient's family physician is involved in the meeting, can the family physician bill shared care fee code 520?

Yes, family physician conferencing with a group of primary healthcare providers would qualify for the use of fee code 520.

4. In a group practice, is the shared care fee billable for conferencing services provided by a family physician in relation to the patient of another family physician within the practice for whom he/she is providing coverage?

Yes, when covering for a colleague the family physician can bill shared care fee code 520 for conferences with primary healthcare providers on his/her colleagues existing patients, if the covering physician is already registered with the fee code program.

5. What is the maximum number of payments allowed per patient?

Conferences are payable to a maximum of 2 units per patient per day and to a maximum of 100 units per physician annually.

If the patient is present, the conference is payable at $30 per 15 minutes (i.e. one unit) in addition to the normal visit fee.

If the patient is not present, the conference is payable at $30 per the greater part of 15 minutes (e.g. after 8 minutes of visit time).
